

GOVERNOR WANTS
NO MOLLYCODDLES

At Laying of Corner-Stone in Alexandria, Swanson Pleads for "More Rugged Men."

HONOR HILL'S MEMORY

Building Named for Late George R. Hill, and Will Be for Young People.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ALEXANDRIA, VA., July 12.—In the presence of a large gathering of churchmen and laymen the corner-stone of the George R. Hill Memorial building for young people, which is being erected by the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was laid at 5 o'clock this afternoon under the auspices of Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons. The principal speaker was Governor Claude A. Swanson. Invocation was offered by Rev. E. V. Register, presiding elder of the Washington District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Rev. Charles O. Bulla, pastor of the local church, delivered an address, in which he outlined the plans leading up to the construction of the building. When completed the building will cost about $22,000. The structure adjoins the church property on South Washington Street and will be two stories high. The lot on which it is built cost $4,250. By a resolution passed at the regular quarterly conference of the church, held January 2, 1907, it was unanimously decided to name the building "The George R. Hill Memorial." Mr. Hill was prominently identified with that church.

The following constitute the committee having charge of the work: Rev. Charles D. Bulla, pastor of the local church, and Messrs. E. C. Graham, J. E. Myers, C. E. Outland and J. Clinton Smoot. The contract for the building was awarded to Mr. Joseph P. Rodgers, of this city, May 17th last, and the work was begun May 22d.

Governor Speaks.
Governor Swanson said that he felt highly honored to be present on such an occasion, and that he thought it but right that he should be present to aid such a laudable enterprise. The Governor congratulated Rev. Mr. Bulla for having started such a work. The speaker then commented upon the good effects of a building of such a character and said that he hoped that every church in Virginia will have something similar. "You are here to-day, and in a few years," said he, "they will possess the power which will be for good or evil."

The Governor asserted that a man without environments will amount to nothing. "It is character," said he, "that makes power, and it is time to put the man above the dollar. I want the time to come when the hero of the hour, and when there are less critics and more workers. We were suggested men," declared the Governor, who concluded his remarks by saying that in whatever line one's life may fall, he should discharge his duty to the aid of justice and progress.

Young Man Who Had Been in Failing Health Shoots Himself.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NORFOLK, VA., July 12.—G. B. Crawford, thirty-three years old, a clerk in a grocery store, committed suicide this afternoon by shooting himself twice through the heart at his boarding-house. Crawford came here about two years ago from Elizabeth City, N. C. He had been in bad health for a long time, which is assigned as the cause of his act. He had not been to work for a week. He was unmarried.

YOUNG LAWYER ENTERS
SPOTSYLVANIA POLITICS

MR. T. STOKELY COLEMAN,
Candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of Spotsylvania County.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SPOTSYLVANIA, VA., July 12.—Mr. T. Stokely Coleman, of the Spotsylvania bar, has announced his candidacy for the office of commonwealth's attorney for the county of Spotsylvania, which seems to meet with the approval of many people of that county.

He was educated at the University of Virginia and was licensed as a lawyer by the judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals while attending the university, later graduating with the class of 1903-4, with the degree of bachelor of law. Since that time he has practiced his profession at Spotsylvania Courthouse.

He is a young gentleman of unusual popularity, a true and loyal democrat, being a member of his county executive committee.

Dr. Kent Lectures.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., July 12.—Dr. Charles W. Kent, professor of literature at the University of Virginia, delivered an interesting and instructive lecture before the summer institute at College Hall here to-night. In addition to the visiting teachers, a large number of local people attended, forming a cultured audience, which greatly enjoyed the splendid address.

Plenty of Small Change.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SUFFOLK, VA., July 12.—Police Officer Edward Dennis to-day arrested Lloyd Freeman, accused of twice breaking and robbing the store of Richard H. Whelan, aside from articles of merchandise taken the cash secured included more than 300 pennies.

Standard Gets Small Award.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SUFFOLK, VA., July 12.—Two large local peanut concerns, the Standard Peanut Company and the Suffolk Peanut Company, have been occupying in Circuit Court two days on a civil case. The jury to-night brought a verdict for only $126.87 in the former's favor.

RIVERSIDE CLUB TO STOP FIGHTING

Agrees to Ask Judge Mullen to Dissolve Injunction Restraining Blackstone.

ALDERMAN OWEN DIES

Has Attack of Malarial Fever, and Survives Only Four Days.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
PETERSBURG, VA., July 12.—The baseball team of the Blackstone Athletic Association, which was restrained yesterday from playing here with the Petersburg team July 11th, 12th and 13th, by an injunction granted by Judge Mullen of the Hastings County to the Riverside Club because of alleged violation of a contract with the latter team, has reorganized as the "All Virginia Collegians" and had arranged games with the Petersburg team for to-day and to-morrow, but no games were played this evening, and the Riverside B. B. Club will to-morrow morning ask Judge Mullen to dissolve the injunction granted to them yesterday restraining the Blackstone team from playing the Petersburg club.

This action will be taken because of the inconvenience to the public and undesirable nature of present conditions.

Preacher Retains Lawyers.

Pastor Eli Tarr, and his followers in the disension in the Harrison Street Baptist Church, colored, have retained Attorneys R. B. Davis and Paul Pettit, of the law firm of Davis & Davis, as their attorneys, and have issued a card announcing to the congregation the action of the opposing faction in securing an injunction from the Hastings County Court restraining the pastor and the recently elected deacons and trustees from acting as officers of the church until further order of the court. The pastor expresses confidence that the court will approve the course taken by his supporters, and urges the congregation to await with patience the legal settlement of the difficulties. A big meeting was held at the church last night, but no disorder ensued.

A large delegation of Petersburg Elks will leave to-morrow evening to attend the national convention of Elks, which will convene in Philadelphia July 15th.

Death of Alderman.

Waverly G. Owen, a well-known citizen and member of the Board of Aldermen, died this evening at his residence, on West High Street, after a brief illness from malarial fever, with complications.

Mr. Owen was about thirty-five years old, and was foreman of a department at the Sewall and Tank and Bag Company's plant. He was a native of Petersburg, and married Miss Gayleena Goodwin, of this city, who survives him with five children.

FEATHERSTON IS LITTLE AHEAD

Complete Returns Give Him Three Majority Over Ould.
Recount Likely.

LYNCHBURG, VA., July 12.—Complete but unofficial returns from all of the precincts in Campbell county in the Democratic primary yesterday give H. C. Featherston a majority of three over Eugene Ould, the incumbent, the member of the House of Delegates from this county. The result seems to be no doubt but Mr. Ould will ask for a recount of the votes. The Ould-Featherston contest has overshadowed the senatorial fight, and it is impossible to-night to give the exact majority of Don P. Halsey over Senator A. R. Thomas, as two small precincts are missing, though Judge Frank Marshall, chairman of the County Committee, had the ballots in the city to-day. They were sealed, and while he could not give the senatorial figures in the missing precincts, he thought here that he could ascertain Halsey's majority. However, it is about 200.

Becomes Professor's Bride.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ROYDTON, VA., July 12.—A very pretty marriage took place to-day at the country home of Mr. P. F. Lambert, of near South Hill, Va., when Professor L. C. Blalock, principal of the Norfolk High School of North Carolina, led to the marriage altar the handsome and attractive Miss Sadie E. Lambert, daughter of Mr. P. F. Lambert. The Rev. E. L. Baptist officiated. Mr. L. P. Shankle was best man, and Miss Alice Lambert, maid of honor, and the following were attendants: Miss Lena Blalock and Mr. S. B. Lambert, Miss Elsie Morris and Mr. J. S. Dorch.

The bride wore a green traveling suit. A reception was held at the Lambert home on Tuesday evening. The bridal party left on the midday train for Asheville, N. C., and from there will go to their future home at Norfolk, N. C. The bride is a fine musician and has been principally engaged for several years in teaching music.

Had Prosperous Year.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BOYDTON, VA., July 12.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the South Hill Manufacturing Company was held at the office of the company on the 10th instant. The same officers were retained for the coming year. The net earnings for the past year were very encouraging, showing seventy per cent on the capital stock invested. A cash dividend was declared, payable September 1st, of ten per cent, and ten per cent was allowed for depreciation and the balance of fifty per cent was placed to the surplus fund.

Erect Large Warehouse.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., July 12.—The Melville woolen mill have contracted with E. G. Hefflin for the erection of two double houses and a large warehouse to be used in connection with their plant.

NEW YORK LAWYER WILL MAKE ANNUAL ADDRESS

Hon. John R. Dos Passos to Speak Before Bar Association at Exposition.

The executive committee of the State Bar Association has invited Hon. John R. Dos Passos, a distinguished member of the New York bar, to deliver the annual address before the meeting of the association at the Jamestown Exposition on July 30th, 31st and August 1st.

Mr. Dos Passos has not yet announced his subject and may not do so prior to the meeting. He ranks very highly as a lawyer, and has made a specialty of patent and trade-mark cases.

The session of the association this year promises to be of unusual interest for several reasons. It will be held at the Exposition grounds in the Inside Inn, and this will naturally attract a great many lawyers, who will attend the meeting and the exposition at the same time. Again, interest has been steadily growing in the association within the last few years, and this promises to be perhaps the largest meeting ever held.

The program, so far as it concerns the papers to be read by members and the names of those who will attend, has already been printed. Special rates have been secured for members of the association at the Inside Inn during the meeting.

The extension from Rooney to Farmville of the Buckingham branch will cross the proposed extension of the Tidewater and Western to Lynchburg at or near Curdsville, in this (Buckingham) county.

Arvonia is growing rapidly at present, a number of handsome new stores, a fine hotel and residences being under construction, and many more in contemplation.

The hotel will be open in about sixty days. The Masons will shortly erect a handsome temple, with a public assembly hall on the first floor. The Odd-Fellows will also build a hall.

C. AND O. WILL RUN
LINE TO FARMVILLE

Contract Already Let for Extension of Buckingham Branch.

SCHEME OF VAST IMPORTANCE

Means That Eventually C. & O. Will Run Trains from Washington to Danville.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
ARVONIA, VA., July 12.—Authoritative news has been received here to the effect that the contract has already been let for the construction of the extension of the Buckingham branch of railway from Rooney, the present terminus, to Farmville, in this (Buckingham) county. The Buckingham Branch is now owned and operated by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company. It does a heavy business, and it gives good freight and passenger service.

This town has long needed a new Southern route. Most of the slate shipped from here goes South, and the present every car has to be sent through either Richmond or Lynchburg. This entails a great deal of additional expense.

It is said by those who are interested in the construction of the new line that work on it will begin within the next sixty days. It is a significant fact that a large part of the money necessary to the construction of the line was raised locally.

The news of the new road is especially welcome here on account of the fact that it will extend from the next twelve months a system of through traffic, possibly from Washington to Farmville or still farther South. The Virginia Air Line is now under construction, and will be completed within the next few months.

This road, extending from the northern terminus of the Buckingham branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, a station near Gordonsville, on the main line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, a distance of twenty-eight miles, will be a direct route from Washington to Farmville, giving through passage from Washington to Danville and all the South.

AGENT FOR LIQUOR
FIRM ARRESTED

Danville House Sends Whiskey Into Prohibition Territory.

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 12.—E. H. Cartledge, liquor order agent for a Danville liquor dealer, was arrested this morning for alleged violation of the prohibition law, and Mayor Brandt bound him over to court.

In the hearing this morning Messrs. Thomas Bell and David P. Stone, appearing as counsel for Cartledge, contended that the defendant was not a seller under the law, and that the interstate commerce act protected the Danville man. There was no question as to the fact that Cartledge, as agent for the Danville dealer, took a written order for liquor, and the order was telephoned to Danville. The liquor was sent to the purchaser direct from Danville, he paying for it on delivery by the express company.

Ex-Judge Thomas J. Shaw, as attorney for the city, prosecuted the case, contending that it was a clear evasion of the interstate commerce law, and was a fraud on this law, and therefore not protected by it. The very precaution taken by the liquor dealer showed clearly the purpose was to evade the law of North Carolina, and this very fact made them guilty.

use in connection with the dispatcher's office.

Movement of Trains.

(3) All orders affecting the movement of trains shall be framed and issued by the dispatcher on duty, and all orders issued by the dispatcher shall be written on a record sheet or book for train orders; that is, kept in the office for this purpose, and a written copy of the order shall be given to the conductors of every train that is affected, and shall be telephoned to the conductors of the trains, and the conductor required to write the order on an order sheet and repeat it to the dispatcher, and then, if correct, sign his name to it, and deliver it to the motorman, and have him execute and return it to the dispatcher. The dispatcher shall be required to check the orders when received from the conductors for filing with the record book or books to see that they were correctly made out.

(4) The dispatchers shall keep a daily train order book, in which shall be recorded the movements of all trains that are operated, showing time each train passes reporting stations, together with notes of delays and changes of schedule as per the time-table.

(5) All conductors shall report by telephone to the dispatcher the time of their arrival and departure at all stations, and shall be required to check the orders when received from the conductors for filing with the record book or books to see that they were correctly made out.

(6) No work or freight train shall be run as a passenger train, and shall not leave the terminal point, car barn or reporting station without orders from the dispatcher, and the trainmen of the work train or freight train must be informed of the schedule of all other trains operating on the line, and must keep out of the way of passenger trains and clear the track at least five minutes.

Sufficient Power.

(7) All trains run in sections shall carry signals (flag) by which the dispatcher shall be informed of the location of all trains, and the trainmen of the work train or freight train must be informed of the schedule of all other trains operating on the line, and must keep out of the way of passenger trains and clear the track at least five minutes.

(8) The railroad shall provide sufficient power to maintain its trains upon schedules as advertised. These schedules shall be posted at all stations, and shall be available to the public, and shall be kept up to date, and shall be subject to change at any time.

(9) The company shall supply sufficient cars at the Aqueduct Bridge and other terminal points to furnish at all times reasonable accommodation for the public, and shall be permitted to unduly crowd its cars.

(10) All trains of more than one car shall be operated with motor car in front, except that between Aqueduct Bridge and Arlington Heights, on Arlington Reservation, motor cars may push loaded cars up grade. In all cases the number of passenger cars on a train shall be limited to one car, and going down grades, motor cars shall be in front.

(11) Under further notice, the company shall furnish the commission each week a report of the number of passengers carried on the road, showing the arrival and departure of each train at and from Aqueduct Bridge, and at the other stations, and shall be required to furnish the commission with a copy of the report, and shall be required to furnish the commission with a copy of the report, and shall be required to furnish the commission with a copy
